LENT BEGINS NEXT WEEK.

Tuesday next will be Shrove Tuesday and will mank the close of the social seasor. It has been an unusually short season, but quits a brilliant one. For the next few days both debutentes and their clders will be as gay as possible and each hour sloost will be given over so bridge, lunchoons and teas, Wednes lav will be Ash Wednesday - the beginning of Lent. Among the Oath dies and Episcopalians the observ. ance is more rigorous than among the other deneminations Meat is forbidden to Catbolics on Wednesdays and Fri-

Leuten regulations for the season, and ginia in 1846 when Alexandria ceased they will be read in all the Oatholic to be a part of the District churches of the archdiocese on Sanday. Eich year they are read the Sanday preceding Ant Wednesday.

Shrove Tuesday is the day before the beginning of Last and is generally observed as a day of celebration before the potting on of the sackeloth and ashes, It is sometim's called "paucake Tuesday," and most of the orthodox bou eholders serve pancakes that day for din-

Daring the arason most of the Catholic, Episcopal and Lutheran churches hold special series of sarmons. The clergy are not clothed to bright-colored vestments until Eister Sunday, and the laity is supposed to abstain from amusemen's and make some special sacrifice of their pleasures.

OPERA HOUSE.

In presenting "The Banker's Child," which as page at the Opera House tonight, Mgr. Harry Shannon is giving the thestre going public one of the best attractions now being offered in the one night stands. He has been more than careful in the selection of the cast, has mounted it grandly along the line of scenery and electrical effects and lastly, but not least, is offering just what the people want in the line of specialties, having secured some of the most prominent vaudeville performers for this line.

"The Banker's Child," which sppears at the Opera II use tonight, is nadoubtedly the best traveling company thus fer seen here this season. Nine years of continuous success is a tribute of its appreciation by the American play going public and the fact that it has played some houses as many as five consecutive seasons is in itself a gnorantee of its popularity. A matines was given this afteranon to a crowded bouse and the play was excellently produced and applauded throughout. Some clever specialties were introduced.

COLONIAL DAMES.

The February meeting of the Alexandris O role of Orlovial Dames was beld Jesterday afternoon, with Mrs. William J. Bosthe, jr., at her residence on north Washington street, Mrs. J. Stewart Jamieson presiding. The meetlog was one of much interest to the circle, and the attendance was above the average. After the bus uces session the members of the circle and a number of other guests were delighted by entertained by Mrs. Beothe. In the dising room clusters of inequals and blue candles shaded made a most edective decoration, while on the table the colonial colors were carried out in every detail. A dainty souvening to each guest was a ministure "dame" in the ball costame of colonial days. Assisting Mrs. Boothe in the dining room were Mrs. Cassins F. Lee, Mrs. Ger. S French, Miss Edith Bentley and Miss Hanter, of Winchester.
